

RelyOn Acquires GlobalExSolutions to Expand Electrical Training Services in the U.S.

RelyOn has finalized an agreement to acquire GlobalExSolutions (GExS), a Houston-based company specializing in training for safety and technical skills in low and high voltage electrical environments and explosive areas. GExS provides a wide range of training and inspection services across various industries.

Jenni Lewis, MD RelyOn US, commented, "This acquisition marks RelyOn's entry into the U.S. electrical training market. We are excited to welcome GExS into the RelyOn family and look forward to expanding our electrical and explosive area training services to both existing and new clients. We are looking forward to collaborating with our new and existing clients, as we evolve training services for high, medium and low voltage electrical infrastructure."

Lisa Parkinson, RelyOn's MD Electrical Services, noted, "While Texas is historically known as the heart of the U.S. oil and gas industry, it is also rapidly becoming a leader in the energy transition, with significant growth in wind, solar generation, and transmission line infrastructure."

Tony Scott, Founder of GExS, said, "This acquisition is the next step in our long-standing partnership with RelyOn. It strengthens our ability to meet growing demand from our traditional oil and gas clients, while also addressing the increasing needs of emerging industries."

This acquisition not only strengthens the longstanding partnership between RelyOn and GExS but expand the services RelyOn can offer its customers. Together, they are committed to delivering exceptional solutions that address the evolving needs of their clients.
